EXHAUST CLEANING CHECKLIST

Things to Look for

- Was my hood, duct, and fan cleaned to bare metal?
- What type of fan do I have?
  - Up Blast - Does my fan have hinges? If not, is the electrical conduit long enough for the fan to be tilted?
  - Utility - Does my fan have access panels to clean both sides of the blades?
- Do I have an adequate number of access panels?
  - Access Panels should be installed every 12 feet and at every bend
  - A general rule of thumb is, if you can't see it, you can't clean it.
- How often should I have my exhaust system cleaned?
  - Monthly - Systems serving solid fuel cooking operations (wood or charcoal)
  - Quarterly - Systems serving high-volume cooking operations, such as 24-hour cooking, charbroiling, or wok cooking
  - Semi-Annually - Systems serving moderate-volume cooking operations
  - Annually - Systems serving low-volume cooking operations such as churches, day camps, seasonal businesses or senior centers
- Do I have my access panels in place?
  - Are the slats in the grease filters vertical?
  - Grease filters are important because they allow the fan to draw air evenly along your cooking line.
  - They should be cleaned on a regular basis.
- Are my belts in good condition?
  - Belts should be changed semi-annually to ensure smooth operation.
- Are my bearings greased?
  - Bearings should be greased when belts are changed to avoid seizure.
- Does my hood have an up-to-date cleaning sticker?
  - Is the box for inaccessible areas checked off? If so, ask the technician why.
- Does your Hood Cleaning Company Take Photos of Before and After?
  - We post photos of before and after on our web site within 24hrs of Job.
- Is your exhaust company available 24/7 for all your maintenance needs?
